MEETING A MASTER

How often do you get the opportunity to sit one-on-one and pick the brain of an individual considered a master in their profession? At FRI you can have that experience.

We are fortunate that several highly regarded and respected, experienced fire-ems service leaders have agreed to share their experiences with FRI attendees who would like to discuss a pressing issue.

These are private sessions you can schedule to meet with a Master of your choice to discuss an issue or your professional enhancement.

The IAFC is grateful to these fire-ems service leaders who are volunteering their time and expertise to make these very special sessions available to FRI participants.
