

Ryan Fox EFO Bio

I started my fire service career in 1993 as a Cadet with the Campbell County Fire Department and was later appointed as a volunteer firefighter in 1997. I spent four seasons working as a firefighter with United States Forest Service, two on the Bighorn National Forest (WY) and two as a member of the Logan Interagency Hotshot Crew hosted by the Wasatch-Cache National Forest (UT). In 2002, I started as a Career Firefighter with the Campbell County Fire Department and have moved through the ranks until I was appointed to my current position of Division Chief overseeing administration and support services in 2023. I possess an Associate of Applied Science in Fire Science Technology from Casper College, a Bachelor of Science in Public Administration from Upper Iowa University, and a Master of Science in Organization Leadership from Regis University. In 2019, I graduated from the Executive Fire Officer Program at the National Fire Academy.

The Campbell County Fire Department is a combination fire department located in Northeastern Wyoming. Our service area is almost 5,000 square miles with three career stations and seven part-time stations serving over 60,000 residents.

If elected, it is my goal to engage and represent all members of the EFO Section within the Missouri Valley Division and work in collaboration with the other members of the board. I would appreciate your support!
