Please note: if your department currently has its own SAFER Recruitment and Retention award from FEMA, you still may be eligible to participate.

Learning from best practices in other departments, we established a centralized recruiting process. We realized the pool of possible volunteers was not what we expected.

VWS Information and History

The North Carolina Association of Fire Chiefs was awarded a SAFER recruitment and retention grant in 2017 to identify recruitment and retention goals, strategies and marketing methodologies that would benefit not only participating departments, but all fire departments in the state. The program will combine traditional recruiting methodologies with Geographic Information system (GIS) based methodologies. The GIS-based community-level profile is an analysis of existing firefighters that identifies the types of people who could be future firefighter candidates and discusses the methods to best communicate with and recruit them. 15 departments will be selected to participate in Phase I of the program. The VWS program is also operating in Virginia through the Virginia Fire Chiefs Association, Connecticut through the Connecticut Fire Chiefs Association, and Tennessee through the Tennessee Fire Chiefs Association. There is also currently a National VWS effort focusing on diversity and new trainings.
